

Exploring the Elements

A workshop series with Amanda

Natural elements are a foundational underpinning of many esoteric traditions. In this series of classes we will explore the ones commonly associated with the five points on the witches' pentacle—earth, water, fire, air, ether—using activities designed to bring us in tune with their energies. We will also explore their history, magical associations, and some common symbology.

The course is designed as a series of modules that build on each other, but they can be taken individually. Each module focuses on a separate element. Typically, the course is offered as five or six evening classes, or as a 12-hour weekend intensive.
